Pori Art Museum / MEDIApoint
30.09.2011-15.01.2012

The Animate exhibition series is a collaboration project between the Pori Art Museum, theTurku Art Museum and theTurku University of Applied Sciences / Animation programme. Animate is part of the Turku 2011 European Capital of Culture Program. It explores the role of animation as an independent contemporary art form and as a part of the visual arts.

Animate is being shown in Pori, in Pori Art Museum's MEDIApoint. Finnish visual artist Timo Vaittinen will start the serie. He will realize an installation in the MEDIApoint, and animations made with stop-motion technique will be part of the installation.

Animate will present works by animators -Turun Anikistit-, who have graduated from the Turku University of Applied Sciences / Animation programme, and works by animators who are active in Helsinki, and members in an association called Animaation apupyöä. The members in these two associations are mainly young animators, who make animations on a non commercial bases.

The serie ends with Italian and West European contemporary animations, which are curated by Anna Daneri (IT) and Stefani Coletto (IT).
